Rally to create awareness on water conservation

DC CORRESPONDENT
OOTY, AUG. 26

Students of Good Shepherd International School (GSIS) organised a rally here to create awareness on water conservation.

Dr P.C. Thomas, principal of GSIS said that students of grades 1 through 6 of GSIS organised a 'Pro H2O' day to spread awareness among people about the importance of conserving water.

The events included a poetry recitation by the tiny tots of grades 1 and 2, dressed as water droplets.

This was followed by a Tamil skit and poetry recitation to educate local people, he added.

The highlight of the 'Pro H2O' day was a rally around the locality, which was flagged off by Mrs Sheila Alexander, Vice-Principal (academics) and Brig. Suresh Kumar, vice-principal (Administration) of GSIS.

Students, clad in captioned bandanas, along with all staff members walked with placards and posters to inspire people to save water. They also shouted slogans such as "water water everywhere, Try to save it, if you care!" and "save water, save lives!" The children made and distributed bookmarks to reinforce this important message.
